Press Release

CLEARPATH ACTION

Statement from ClearPath Action CEO Jeremy Harrell on the 2026 Midterm Elections

Washington, D.C. – Wednesday, November 4, 2026 – Americans across the political spectrum want affordable, reliable power, good jobs and a country that leads in the technologies of the future. Clean energy is how we get there. It powers American energy dominance, reshores manufacturing and builds a stronger economy.

The ClearPath playbook is simple: innovate fast, build here, sell globally. That runs from restarted reactors to American-made concrete and fertilizer to American technology powering the world.

Divided government is an opportunity for bipartisanship and compromise, and durable energy policy has always been built across the aisle. Voters sent their representatives to Washington to deliver lower energy bills, a growing economy and a nation secure in its own energy and the technology to produce it. Meeting that mandate takes bridge builders in both parties. ClearPath will work with anyone to continue advancing free-market, clean energy policy that delivers for every American.

Congress doesn't have to wait until 2027 to deliver. The Bipartisan American Affordability and Jobs Act (S.5653) is an affordability bill: it gets new energy built faster and lowers costs for families. Pass it before the 119th Congress adjourns.

Let's get to work.

Media Contact:

Bill Meierling
bill@clearpathaction.org

About ClearPath:

ClearPath Action 501(c)(4) advocates for more clean energy innovation, modernized permitting and regulatory reform, America's global competitiveness for manufacturing and unlocking more American resources — solutions drawn from our friends at ClearPath. Learn more at clearpathaction.org. Follow us on Twitter: @ClearPathAction, @Jharrell

ClearPath · 300 New Jersey Ave NW, Suite 800, Washington, DC 20001, United States
This email was sent to digrado@clearpath.org · Unsubscribe